“What’s in a name? That which we call a rose by any other name would smell as sweet“. – William Shakespeare – Romeo and Juliet.

No garden is complete without Roses, whether in traditional Rose-beds, as shrubs in mixed borders, as climbers for walls or pergolas, or in tubs on the patio.

The choice is vast; all are grown for the beauty or fragrance of their flowers, repeat flowering qualities, good disease resistance or decorative hips.

ROSE OF THE YEAR

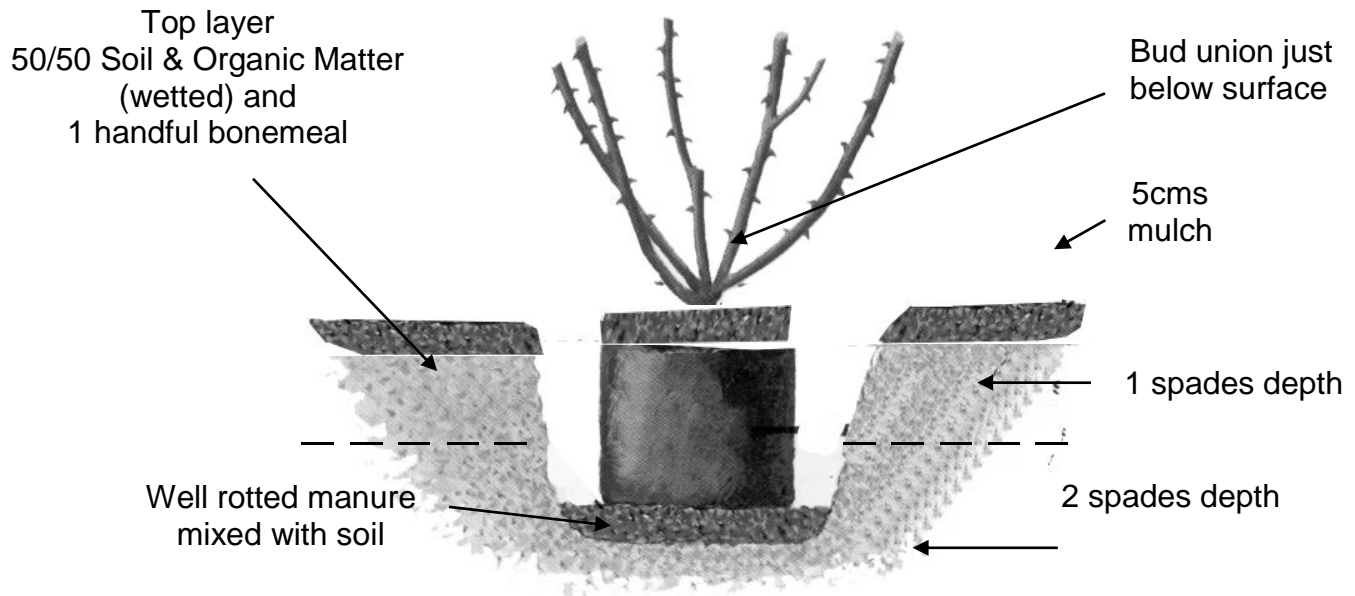

The aim of the competition is to discover the best rose in any given year. Rose breeders throughout the UK enter their best up and coming varieties. Following trials under different soil conditions and climate locations, a winner is selected which is then offered to rose growers for propagation.

Previous winners include:-

2018 - Lovestruck
2017 – Scent from Heaven
2016 – Sunny Sky
2015 – For Your Eyes Only
2014 – Lady Marmalade
2013 – You’re Beautiful
2012 – Moment in Time
2011 – Joie De Vivre
2010 – Absolutely Fabulous
2009 – Lucky
2008 – Sweet Haze
2007 – Tickled Pink
2006 – Champagne Moment
2005 – Summertime
2004 – Golden Memories

The Rose of the Year for 2019 is ‘Starlight Symphony’ – Climbing rose with pure white blooms and a good fragrance, height 2.5m.

PLANTING GUIDE

Remove container carefully and keep compost around the root intact!

Our Roses are containerised ready for planting all year round. If you have to replace your Roses we advise you to use a new site; if this is not possible, it is necessary to plant them in fresh soil - removing old soil to a depth and width of at least 60cm and replace with fresh soil and plenty of well rotted manure. Alternatively a product called Rootgrow is now available which contains Mycorrhizal fungi. This helps the rose to establish a healthy root system and also to prevent rose sickness.

PRUNING ROSES

The object of pruning is to encourage vigorous, disease free new growth, and an optimum number of flowers. There are many forms of roses but the general principles apply to all.

General Principles

a/ Secateurs

Always use a sharp pair of secateurs. Never force them through extra thick stems, but use long handled loppers, or a pruning saw if needed, on neglected plants.

b/ When to Prune

Roses are best pruned in early spring when the uppermost buds begin to swell, but to avoid wind rock in the winter, shorten back old flowering wood in late autumn.

c/ Correct Pruning

Always cut just above an outward facing bud approximately 5mm above, with a sloping cut away from the bud.

- 1/ Cut out dead and diseased stems.
- 2/ Remove any weak spindly growths.
- 3/ Where two shoots cross, cut one back to just where they cross.
- 4/ Remove any suckers, tracing back to the root and pulling them off.
- 5/ Burn or dispose of prunings to reduce the risk of spreading disease.

ROSE CARE

1/ A good mulch in Spring with well rotted compost or manure is important, to ensure healthy Roses with reduced risk of black spot and helps to retain moisture during dry summer weather.

2/ A regular spraying programme is essential for healthy roses. Please ask a member of staff for products which are currently available.

3/ Feed and water regularly to promote natural vigour.

4/ Allow plenty of air circulation and avoid wetting foliage in the evening, as this encourages disease to spread.

5/ Companion planting will help to deter pests ie Nepeta, or Garlic.

6/ Replace roses before they get too old.

HYBRID TEA ROSES - HT

The Hybrid Tea is the aristocrat of roses. The classic rose, with a pointed bud opening to reveal many velvety petals, regularly arranged to form a high central cone. There is a bewildering range of colours with a moderate to strong fragrance. They will repeat flower and are the ideal rose for the vase.

Height and spread from 60cm to 100cm.

PRUNING: Newly planted Roses (autumn/winter) - hard prune to 10-15cm from the ground. On established varieties prune out any dead or old non-flowering wood. For general garden display, prune strong stems by half - weaker stems by two thirds. Some stronger growing varieties are best lightly pruned, e.g. Peace, cut back by a third. Always cut an outward facing bud, sloping away about 0.5cm above the bud. Best done in mid March

FLORIBUNDA ROSES - FLOR

The Floribunda rose is the best rose for providing colour in the garden from summer well into autumn. Many varieties are fragrant disease resistant, and very reliable in wet weather. The Floribunda is the most versatile of roses flowing in clusters, ideal in the border, planted as a hedge or in a container, in either formal or informal settings. Height and spread from 60cm to 150cm.

Follow pruning guide for Hybrid Teas.

GROUND COVER ROSES - G/C

Ground cover roses are generally low growing and spreading, they form a dense leafy mat. Their uses are numerous in the garden, ideal as weed suppressors, for hiding unsightly mounds, edging rose beds and covering steep banks. They may vary in height from 20cm to 2m, generally repeat flowering and requiring less attention than other types.

PRUNING: Little is needed, except for the removal of old flower heads, dead or weak growth. Best done in early spring, using secateurs or mechanical pruners.

CLIMBING ROSES - CLB

Climbing roses are ideal choice to cover a wall or screen. The flowers are born on the framework of mature wood which is permanent and so pruning and maintenance is much easier. They are generally repeat flowering and fragrant. Height from 2m to 5m.

PRUNING: Cut out any weak or old non-flowering growths. Tie in shoots. Prune back flowering shoots to 3 or 4 buds.

RAMBLING ROSES - RAMB

Rambling roses are very vigorous and are generally a mass of colour in summer often followed by hips. They do not usually repeat flower, (those below marked with an ® are repeat flowering), but are ideal for growing into dead trees or over pergolas. They also make excellent weeping standards and can be left to trail along the soil as ground cover.

Height from 3m to 10.5m

PRUNING: Ramblers should be pruned on planting to stimulate growth from the base.

ESTABLISHED PRUNING: Prune out one in three of the stems to the base to encourage new growth. Also shorten side shoots by two thirds to encourage flowering the following season. This should be done after flowering in July.

NEW ENGLISH ROSES - ENG

English roses combine the charm, variety and character of old roses, but also have the compactness and long flowering qualities of modern roses. They are very disease resistant, can be used in mixed borders, rose beds, as standards and some are suitable for containers.

Some English roses can also be grown as climbers. They are not too vigorous and have a natural ability to flower very close to the ground.

STANDARD ROSES

Standard roses are excellent for giving height in the garden. They can be used as a focal point, or for planting at intervals along the edge of a path. They lend an extra dimension to a flat landscape and can also be grown in containers, and kept on a sunny patio.

They are available as:-

50cm Standards - 50cm stem – overall height 1.2 – 1.5m

80cm Standards - 80cm stem – overall height 1.5 – 2m

100cm Standards - 100cm stem – overall height 2 – 2.5m

Hybrid Teas, Floribundas, Ground Cover, Patio and English Roses are available as standards, along with some Shrub Roses.

It is necessary to stake and tie Standard Roses securely.
